The cost per person for the Ghana Study Abroad in Education! Program is $4800 and includes the following:

- Tuition for three (3) semester credits
- Roundtrip airfare including taxes and fees from Atlanta to Accra, Ghana on a major U.S. airline
- Double person accommodation in airconditioned rooms in Ghana
- Full English breakfasts each day of the Program and two traditional Ghanaian dinner banquets (a welcome and a farewell banquet)
- ALL transportation throughout Ghana to scheduled activities
- ALL entrance fees to historical monuments and cultural sites
- A Ghanaian-language speaking travel and tour guide to accompany the participants throughout the Program
- University-sponsored travel insurance
- Orientation meeting and a detailed orientation packet for each participant
- All retreat preparation costs for copying, mailings, and updates

Be sure to check the deadline dates for application and payment of fees!

Cynthia B. Dillard, Ph. D., Director, Ghana Study Abroad in Education! Program
Email: cdiillard@uga.edu

For More Information
The Ghana Study Abroad in Education! Program provides an exciting opportunity for you to understand and experience the rich history, culture and knowledge of the children, families and communities in Ghana, West Africa! Most importantly, as a participant in the Ghana Study Abroad in Education, you will deepen your knowledge and cultural connections to children and people of the world developing a true “response ability” as a multicultural, global and culturally responsive teacher or researcher. Specifically, The Ghana Study Abroad in Education! Program is designed for you to engage, learn and experience the following:

- The role of African world views, heritage knowledge, and culture in helping teachers research and develop strategies to address educational issues in the U.S. and in the world;
- The connections between and the possibilities of theoretical and pedagogical frameworks that can provide local and globally-based educational responses to teaching, learning and schooling in diverse settings;
- The forgotten roots of African American culture and history that will help you to respond more thoughtfully and relevantly to African American children and families and our growing African immigrant populations in the United States;

Throughout the 12 days in Ghana, we will learn with others through a combination of lectures, demonstrations, school visitations, and hands-on experiences with: Educationists (private, public and higher education professionals); Government officials and policy makers; Teachers and school administrators; Children (PK – High School levels); Traditional leaders (chiefs, queen mothers, elders); Religious leaders, and; Artisans and craftspeople!

Each day of the Ghana Study Abroad in Education! Program is centered in the rich arts and cultural traditions of Ghana, framing the lectures, historic sites and school visitations, and discussions that will occur as an on-going part of this study abroad experience!